BATTLE HYMN OF THE CAMPBELLS

TUNE: "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Constantine, our "father", came from France in four-o-four;
The famous Earls of Argyl were the bravest men of yore;
They fought for Bruce and Cromwell, and were strong in Scottish lore.
The clan goes marching on!

CHORUS: Glory to the tribe of Campbell,
Virile, worthy, brave and loyal!
Glory, "Ne o-bli-vi-sca-ris!"
The clan goes marching on!

Colin, Duncan, Constantine, were fathers of our clan;
Robert was quite virile, David was a sturdy man;
Posterity of Archibald and William never ran.
The clan goes marching on!

Niel Campbell was the escort of Napoleon to exile;
William was the governor of S. C. for a while;
Arch-i fought his battles in the good old Campbell style.
The clan goes marching on!

Duncan was a hostage for redemption of a king;
Nigel married Bruce's sister with a wedding ring;
Colin was a hero, wouldn't run from anything.
The clan goes marching on!

Archibald was preacher to George Washington and Lee;
With Buren, John was Secretary of the Treasury;
Our Campbell sires did noble things for their posterity.
The clan goes marching on!

The Campbells fought at Flodden, Bannockburn and Waterloo;
In every righteous cause our kinsmen fought as heroes do;
They died in seventeen seventy-six, and nineteen eighteen, too.
The clan goes marching on!

There's something strong and mighty in a good old family name;
The name of Campbell shineth high upon the scroll of fame;
For nearly all the Campbells have pursued a lofty aim.
The clan goes marching on!

If you claim the name of "Campbell" join the chorus of the clan,
In our Records and Reunions—all according to our plan.
The name to highest honors boost it every way you can.
The clan goes marching on!

(A) INTRODUCTION

THE Campbell family is among the forty-nine "best families" selected by the American Historical-Genealogical Society for whom the Society has published family histories during the past few years. The Campbell family has been prominent in the British Empire and in the United States, its members having played important rôles in war and in peace. Family pride is a commendable trait and should be cultivated. All Campbells have just cause to be proud of their family history and traditions.

In reference No. 14 and No. 17 we find the following regarding the origin and meaning of the name Campbell:

The oldest spelling of Campbell (that in Ragman Roll, A. D. 1296) is Cambel or Kambel. Gaelic etymologists deduce the name from "cambeul," which means "crooked mouth." By other authorities it is said to be derived from the family name of the wife of Malcolm, and ancient ancestor of the Campbells. He went to France where he married the heiress of the house of Beauchamp, niece of William, Duke of Normandy. Beauchamp, translated, became Campus-bellus, from which was derived Campbellus and finally Campbell.

Though it is not certain whether the name be of Norman or Gaelic origin, it is true that the clan bearing it are the most numerous and powerful in the Highlands. Formerly, under their chiefs,—the earls, marquises and dukes of Argyle,—they could muster 5,000 fighting men, who were usually arrayed against the Stuarts. Their superior influence and power made them feared by the other clans.

By the Highlanders, the clan are called "Clan Duine," and the chiefs have always been styled Mac-Calean-Mohr—"the son of Colin the Great," the distinguished ancestor who in the 13th century laid the foundation of the greatness of his family.

The name is abundant in the province of Ulster. It is recorded that in the 17th century a single Scotch regiment contained no less than 110 John Campbells.

The data in this volume is gathered from reliable sources. We have selected what we consider the most important material. Many of the daughters, and sons for whom no issue was shown, have been omitted from the pedigrees. A missing symbol indicates that a name has been omitted. Those desiring further information are advised to consult the volumes mentioned in the list of References.

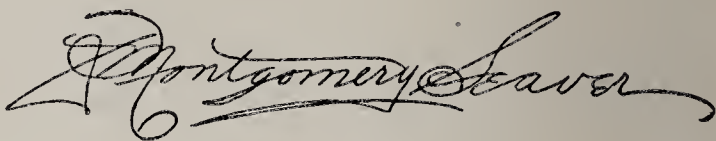

The compiler hopes that, in producing this volume he is bringing to the Campbell Family information which will be of interest and value to them, and that he is rendering an important service to the public. He and his associates will be glad to give their cooperation to members of the family who are interested in having a complete genealogy of the family published.

Unless otherwise plainly shown, the persons in this volume whose names are accompanied by three figures are children of the immediately preceding persons bearing immediately preceding numbers. All persons in each group bearing the same letter as a part of their numbers, are directly related. The generations of the descendants of those bearing numbers of three figures are represented as follows. However, some of our material is published as copied from various records without rearrangement according to this system.

(B) THE CAMPBELL COAT OF ARMS

COAT of Arms is an emblem or a device which is displayed by titled persons, persons of royal blood, and their descendants. Coats of Arms were originally used for purposes of identification and recognition on the field of battle as well as in civil life.

It is claimed by some writers that Coats of Arms, in a crude form, were used by Noah’s sons after the flood. There are records of other Coats of Arms, in one crude form or another, at different periods of ancient history. Heraldry, however, as we know it today, did not become of much importance until soon after the invasion of England by William the Conqueror, A. D. 1066. Heraldry became of general interest at about the time of the Crusades.

The Campbell Coat of Arms shown in the front of this volume is the Arms of the Dukes of Argyle, who are the chieftains of the Campbell clan, and of numerous families sprung from this one. Coats of Arms very similar to it are used by the Campbells of Asknish; Tullicheman; Inverneill and Ross; Stracathro, and many others. The Campbells of Lochnell and Ormidall and numerous other branches of the Campbell family use Coats of Arms resembling it.

This is the most widely used of all Campbell Coats of Arms and has been in existence for many centuries. It is described in BURKE’S GENERAL ARMORY, BURKE’S LANDED GENTRY, BURKE’S PEERAGE AND BARONETCY, DOUGLAS’ SCOTLAND, and other reliable works on heraldry, in many cases accompanied by illustrations. It has been used for generations by many American branches of the Campbell family.

The hereditary insignia of this family stands for splendid honor, noble lineage and true aristocracy.

	HERALDIC LANGUAGE	ENGLISH DESCRIPTION
Arms	Quarterly, first and fourth, gyrenny of eight, or and sable; second and third, argent, a lymphad, sail furled, flags flying, all sable.	A shield,—the 1st and 4th quarters gold and black, the 2nd and 3rd bearing a black ship on a silver field.
Crest	A boar’s head coupéd or.	A golden boar’s head.
Mottoes	Ne obliviscaris. (Latin). Vix ea nostro voce. (Latin)	Lest you forget. I scarce call these deeds of our ancestors ours.

Sir Bernard Burke, of Heralds College, London, said “Heraldry is prized by all who can show honorable ancestry or wish to found honorable families.”

Besides its family significance this Coat of Arms makes an excellent mural decoration and inspires the admiration and comment of all who see it.

It is quite appropriate that members of the Campbell family who have a pride in their ancestry should display the family Coat of Arms, in proper colors.

(M) RELIGIONS OF THE CAMPBELLS

For several centuries the Campbells lived in Scotland. Most of the Scotch and, likewise, the Campbells were and are of the Presbyterian faith.

There are a few Campbells of the Catholic faith in the British Isles, but it is estimated that their number does not exceed two per cent of the entire Campbell population.

The Campbells who came from the British Isles to America continued in the faith of their fathers, for the most part, though their descendants in this country today will be found in the memberships of practically all the various churches. It is estimated that of all the Campbells in America who are church members, at least ninety-five per cent are of the Protestant faith.

Biographical sketches of seventy-four Campbells appear in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA. Their religious faiths are shown as follows: BAPTIST, 2; CONGREGATIONALIST, 6; EPISCOPAL, 3; LUTHERAN, 1; METHODIST, 2; METHODIST EPISCOPAL, 3; PRESBYTERIAN, 10; UNITARIAN, 1; OTHER PROTESTANTS, 4; RELIGION NOT STATED, 42.
